
RAD120 : Radiographic Image Production

This course is designed to introduce the radiologic sciences and to establish a knowledge base in factors that govern the image production process. Also presented are guidelines to enhance basic math skills and the radiation physics needed for the radiologic technologist. Factors that affect image quality are also explored.

Credits	4
Clock Hours	50
Lab Hours	20
Lecture Hours	30
Prerequisites	MAT101